TO GIVE THE KAISER TIME

President Wilson not Disposed to Press for Reply At Once

EMBASSY IS CHEERFUL

Dispatches From Berlin Held to Indicate Disposition to Meet Demands of United States

Washington April, 29.—Ambassador Gerard, at Berlin, in advising the State Department yesterday that he had been invited to confer with Emperor William at army headquarters, said he had not been informed of the purpose of the conference. In fact, Secretary Lansing said when announcing the receipt of Mr. Gerard's dispatch, no explanation of any kind had accompanied the invitation.

The belief prevails here ,however, that the Emperor desires to discuss the general submarine situation with Ambassador Gerard and possibly explain in detail his views for the benefit of President Wilson. Diplomats, especially those attached to Teutonic embassies, seemed to regard the conference between the Emperor and the Ambasador as holding a certain degree of hopefulness.

Brief consideration was given the submarine issue at yesterday's Cabinet meeting—the first held in a week—but Secretary Lansing was able to give only the most meagre information on the subject. In view of the activity of German Government officials and their apparent intention to reach a decision as quickly as possible the President is disposed not to instruct Ambassador Gerard to press for a reply to the American demand at once.

The question will not be allowed to drag along many more days however, it was said.

The attack by a submarine on the British merchantman Industry, and the placing of the crew in open boats 120 miles from shore, created an unfavorable impression on officials, although there were no Americans on board and therefore the United States is not directly concerned. Germany has admitted that it is only proper to place passengers and crews of attacked vessels in open boats when they are near shore and the weather is good.

Optimism regarding the ultimate outcome of the situation was apparent in German circles following the receipt by the German Embassy of dispatches from Berlin, described as indicating that Germany would attempt to meet the American demands.

Because of the visit of Mr. Gerard to the Emperor, officials seemed inclined to believe that it would be impossible for Germany to make reply to the American note before early next week.

Berlin, April 29.—With James W. Gerard, the American Ambassador, on his way to the German Army headquarters and the leading German statesmen already there the day passed quietly in Berlin, where no new developments occurred, with regard to the American note to Germany concerning Germany's method of submarine warfare.

The newspapers refrained from any comment on the latest developments in the situation, merely mentioning Ambassador Gerard's departure. The general situation was not referred to by the newspapers, except the Tages Zeitung, which printed its usual article, saying emphasis on the statement that the underwater boat is a necessity in Germany's warfare against Great Britain.

A Berlin dispatch to the Cologne Gazette again calls attention to what it terms the hopes of Germany's enemies to bring about a breach in German-American relations. This dispatch says the press of the Entente powers is seeking untiringly to hammer the conviction into the whole world that the conditions as laid down by the American Government will not be acceptable to Germany and that an effort is being made to discredit the German answer in advance, no matter what it may be.

"The purpose of these efforts," says the dispatch, "is clear, England and France are longing for German-American complications."

The Cologne Gazette adds that it is interesting to learn what Germany's enemies desire. "One must study their words fully and understand them rightly", the newspaper declares, "for one can make important conclusions from them."

EIGHT GERMANS INDICTED

Charged With Conspiracy to Place Incendiary Bombs on Munition Ships of Allies.

New York ,April 29.—The Federal grand jury returned an indictment yesterday against the eight Germans recently arrested on the charge of engaging in a conspiracy to place incendiary bombs on ships carrying munitions for the Entente Allies and against Dr. Walter T. Scheele, president of the New Jersey Agricultural Chemical Company, the alleged leader of the conspiracy, who has not yet been arrested. It was at Scheele's factory that the bombs were partly manufactured, it is alleged.

The indictment was found on testimony given by Capt. Charles von Kleist, who was employed in the Scheele factory, and Ernst Becker an electrician aboard the Hamburg-American Line steamship Friedrich der Grosse, on which also, it is alleged, bombs were manufactured. Both were among those indicted, but have been promised immunity, according to the District Attorney.

The others accused are Capt. Otto Wolpert and Capt. Eno Bode, of the Hamburg-American Line; Carl Schimidt, chief engineer, and Fredcrick Karbaide, Wilhelm Parades and George Praedel, assistant engineers on the Friedrich der Grosse.

The indictment charges that the acts in the conspiracy were committed between January, 1915, and April 1916, It asserts that Dr. Scheele, purchased the lead used in the manufacture of the bombs from J. D. Johnson & Co., of Jersey City, at various times in April, 1915, and on January 8, and February 2, 1916, On April 15, 1915, Becker is accused of having delivered to Wolpert a satchel containing a number of the bombs.

SCOTT MAKES COUNTER PLAN

Obregon's Demand That Troops Be Withdrawn Considered

WOULD PURSUE VILLA

Believed in Washington That Mexican Will Make Suggestion or Demand on This Country.

Washington, April 29.—Obregon's demand that American troops be withdrawn from Mexico will be met by a counter-proposal from General Scott in the conference today at Juarez.

The counter -plan is understood to be for the United States forces to hold their ground in northern Mexico as a sort of protectorate while the de facto troops complete the work of stamping out Villa's bands.

Scott is authorized to propose that American troops move northward in Mexico while the Mexicans pursue Villa and his bands to the south.

He is instructed, however, not to treat on withdrawal, but to inform Obregon, should he make such a demand, that this must be taken up through diplomatic channels.

Scott's orders deal with co-operation. He is instructed to emphasize the need or it, both for its effect upon the Mexican people and for the sake of early capture of Villa.

He has been told to point out to Gen. Obregon that public opinion in the United States will not brook repetition of the Columbus raid, and that for this reason it is imperative the Villa hunt continue.

The American Government does not care whether the American troops capture Villa or whether this honor falls to the Carranzistas. This point will be made to show Obregon that the desire of the Administration is solely to so scatter the Villa bands that there cannot be further border outrages.

Obregon is vested with diplomatic as well as military power. Scott, on the other hand, is authorized only to urge the need for concerted action. He cannot make any bargain about the length of stay of the expedition, further than to show Obregon that it can be shortened if there is actual co-operation.

That Obregon will make either a suggestion or a demand for withdrawal is believed here. A report of Scott's progress is expected by late tonight, though there may be several days' of parley. Officials here place especial trust in Scott and believe that if it is humanly possible to swing Obregon to the American viewpoint, Scott will do it.

FRENCH BEAT BACK GERMANS

Invaders Make Attacks on Keystone at Verdun to be Repulsed

USED HAND GRENADES

Paris Reports That Crown Prince's Armies Suffered Heavily in Advance On The Meuse.

Paris, April 29.—The crown prince resumed drive on Verdun last night with heavy attacks against the French positions on both banks of the Meuse.

The Germans launched an attack at 5 o'clock last night against Hill 304, the keystone of the French defenses northwest of Verdun.

The war office announced today that this assault was stopped by a grenade counter-attack.

On the right bank of the Meuse, the Germans delivered an even more violent attack east of Thiaumont farm but were driven back, suffering heavy losses.

The fighting on the east bank of the Meuse, north and northeast of Verdun, spread from the river itself to the French positions around Douaument and Vaux village. On this wide sector savage fighting raged throughout yesterday.

Following the most violent artillery preparation and an intense curtain fire, the Germans charged the French front east of Thiaumont, where they have suffered frequent defeats. Liquid fire was sprayed upon the French advanced trenches as the Teutons advanced, but they were met by streams of shrapnel and thrown back with heavy losses.

Another German force, emerging from the northern fringe of Caillette wood, attacked heavily on the Douaumont-Vaux line, but was thrown back without a gain.

The Germans confined their infantry activities on the west bank of the Meuse to the attack on Hill 304. The French artillery was most active while this engagement was in progress, French shells blowing up a German mnition depot. The Germans German munition depot. The Germans positions on Hill 304 throughout the day.

ANOTHER RAID

Villistas Cross Rio Grande and Take Possession of Texas Town

Presidio, Tex., April 29—More than 500 armed Villistas have crossed the Rio Grande River at La Jitas, Tex. 75 miles from the nearest railroad point, and have taken possession of the town, according to telegraphic messages reaching here yesterday from Americans coming from La Jitas by automobile.

There has been no fighting so far, according to the Americans, no resistance being offered, but several stores have been looted. La Jitas is 15 miles from Tolinga, where several mines, employing about 30 Americans are situated. A corporal and twelve American soldiers are at Tolinga.

According to the Americans from La Jitas, the bandits have announced themselves Villistas, and have said they are working under Gen. Placido Pinto Villanuevo, who, with 200 more men, is a few miles south of the border.

They are in possession at present of about twenty miles of United States territory. Grave fears are entertained for the safety of the Americans at Tolinga.

TIDE STRONG TO WILSON

Confidence In His Success More Pronounced Than Ever

Washington, April 29—A more pronounced feeling of confidence in the success of the Wilson ticket at the November election is evident in Administration circles than at any time within recent months.

And this feeling has its basis in the belief that no candidate whom the Republicans may nominate at Chicago can meet the Democratis campaign slogan of 'peace and prosperity". If there is neither peace nor prosperity in November, then this slogan will, of course, fall down, but if both conditions are then present in American national life they will make a situation which Republican orators and organs cannot prevail against.

This conclusion is arrived at from the significance of recent political events. The vote cast in Republican primaries in Michigan and Nebraska for Henry Ford is one of them. That vote was the unorganized and unsolicited expression of thousands of people who believe in peace at almost any price which a nation may have to pay for it. It was a vote that came straight from the hearts of men, rather than from their minds.

Such a vote will be a powerful factor in the coming contest. If it has the strength elsewhere that it had in the Republican half of the people of Michigan and Nebraska, it will determine the issue in November, if this country is itself not at war, regardless of all other considerations.

And this vote will, for the most part, go to the candidate in November who has labored hardest, who has sufficed most to keep this nation out of war. Innumerable crises may have been faced, meantime, the country may have been on the verge of war again and again, but if it has escaped that fate, and escaped it with honor, the man who piloted the country through the storm will get the bulk of the peace vote. That seems as certain as the days of the week.

There will be detractors, of course. There will be thousands of Republican politicians who will heap reproach upon the President for a "weak" and "vacillating" policy, but it is apparent to anybody who has studied the peace sentiment in the United States that this shouting will have little effect upon the people who value the blessing of peace.

COMEDY IN BIG FILM

A great deal of film comedy is horse-play, but David W. Griffith in "The Birth of a Nation" which is being shown in the National theatre proves that quiet refined comedy is a big laugh maker and pleases people better than the old style crude methods.

One of the best laughs in "The Birth of a Nation" is the lovesick sentry in the Hospital scene gazing at Elsie Stoneman. This particular bit is of the "sure fire" order, for never does an audience miss the rapt devotion of the sentinel and the haughty expression of the young lady rebuking him with a million-miles-away look.

Paul LeBlanc is the name of the young actor who has made the unexpected hit in the part. He is a New Orleans Creole by birth and played comedy roles with Mme. Bernhardt before going out to Los Angeles where Mr. Griffith discovered him. The costuming of the young soldier is wonderfully accurate to the period of 1864. Some of the recent Civil War portraits in the magazines and newspapers are almost doublets of this sentry figure, showing what care Griffith has used in reproducing the Civil War type.

Miss Lillian Gish wears her costumes of Civil War and Re-construction times that are heirlooms in her family. Through Griffith's skill all the actors in the production are made to appear as if to the manner born and not awkwardly moving about in habliments to which they are unaccustomed.

REVOLUTION RIFE IN IRELAND

Between 2,000 and 10,000 Rebels Surrounded by British

MANY FIRES IN CITY

Reports That Some Revolutionists Have Made Overtures Looking to a Surrender.

London, April 29—A rebel force, variously estimated at from 2,000 to 10,000, has been cornered and surrounded in the heart of Dublin by British troops.

The government forces have laid siege to the general postoffice building in which the rebels have established headquarters.

Several nearby buildings have been captured from the Sinn Feiners.

Light artillery has been trained upon the post office, but the British commanders hope to capture the rebel headquarters without doing further damage to the building itself.

A press dispatch from a town near Dublin today reported that some of the rebels bands have made overtures for surrender.

Severe fighting occurred in the Irish capital late yesterday afternoon when British troops attacked and captured the strongly-entrenched positions of the rebels in Stephen's Green.

The Green itself is enclosed by a wall.

Entrance is gained only through comparatively narrow gates, across which the Sinn Feiners had built high barricades of overturned autobuses and trucks.

Government troops rushed the barricades in a massed attack and after fifteen minutes of furious hand to hand fighting broke through the gate.

Inside the green the rebels had thrown up shallow trenches, protected by sand bags. From behind these they poured fusillades into the British troops attacking the gate.

Despite this hot fire, the government forces charged the rebel works without waiting for re-enforcements.

One detachment of Sinn Feiners was cut off and surrounded. The prisoners numbered more than 300.

An unofficial dispatch today said the entire green is in possession of government forces.

Several women Sinn Feiners who figured in the early street fighting, have disappeared and are believed to have been hidden away by rebel sympathizers who feared they would be executed.

The authorities have been informed that the Countess Markievicz, sister of an Irish baron and wife of a Polish nobleman, appeared in a green uniform and marched with the Sinn Feiners on the day the revolt began.

According to the best information obtainable here today, the rebels still hold the general posctoffice, a large biscuit factory near Dublin castle, and the four Courts, an area situated between the castle and the Royal Dublin barracks.

Fires are still burning in several parts of the city.

At Killarney, Gorey, Clonmel, and in certain sections of County Galway disturbances have occured but other portions of Ireland remain calm, it was officially stated.

MANY VISIT QUANTICO

Steamer St. Johns Carries Another Large Party to Prince William Town Today

Another large crowd of Washingtonians was aboard the steamer St. Johns when it reached the wharf of the Norfolk and Washington Steamboat Company shortly before ten o'clock this morning. The steamer was unable to touch at the Cameron street wharf as two steamboats were loading there and another was about to enter the dock.

About fifty Alexandrians boarded the steamer. Several trains to and from Quantico were run on the Washington-Southern Railway during the morning and early in the afternoon.

The Atlantic Coast Realty Company, under the auspices of which these free excursions have been given and by which the sales of lots have been made, had made every arrangement for the entertainment of their guests. The Alexandrians who made the trip yesterday reported that many sales were made and that from appearances those engaged in laying out the town mean business. The company reports having sold forty-six thousand dollar's worth of lots yesterday.

As was stated in yesterday's Gazette, this is not the first time attempts have been made to boom Quantico. It has been realized for many years that this Prince William village is an ideal location for a city. Many years ago it was stated that the Cheasapeake and Ohio Railroad Company was considering the feasability of constructing a branch road to that place, with the purpose of making Quantico a great coal depot. The officials were confronted with some difficulty when they attempted to acquire certain portions of the river front, which it was necessary to purchase in order to carry out their plans, and the project collapsed.

Newport News, and vicinity were for many years regarded as ideal sites for cities long before ground was broken in that vicinity. The late C. P. Huntington, President of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad had the foresight to see in advance conditions as they now exist in that Virginia city. Many believe and have always believed, that Quantico has its future also.

DEATH OF COL. DANIEL

Old and Well-Known Resident of Fairfax County Passes Away Near Gunston.

Col. Edward Daniel, at one time owner of Gunston Hall, where George Mason at one time resided, died at 5 p. m. on Wednesday at his home near Gunston, in Fairfax county. He had passed the age of 80 and for several years had been living quietly on a 300-acre fruit farm which he owned at Gunston engaged with the aid of his wife in writing the memories of the civil war and latter scenes in which he took part.

Col. Daniel was born in the great farming section of Western New York, of which Rochester is the center.

When the Civil War began he raised a company and was among the first to gather around Lincoln. Before the close of the war he attained the rank of colonel in a Wisconsin brigade. At the close he bought Gunston Hall, for about $30,000 and began farming operations on an extensive scale there. At the same time he was interested in a newspaper at Richmond on which he did editorial work, and he made one or two canvasses of the State in favor of so-called progressive policies of the day. He also led in a co-operative movement for the marketing of farm produce from the lower Potomac for which the steamer Mary Washington was built. This steamer was burned at Four-mile run about twelve years ago, and the embankment of the Washington-Southern Railway was built over its ribs.

Twenty years ago he sold the larger port of the Gunston Hall property and has since lived on the part where he died.

Colonel Daniel was a student of politics. In 1871 he was a candidate for the State Senate from this district on the republican ticket and made a speech in Old Liberty Hall. The late Judge Thomas, of Fairfax county, was the democratic candidate, and the latter was elected. In 1872 he made a speech in front of the Marshall House in the interest of U. S. Grant, who was opposed by Horace Greeley for President. He later was an earnest advocate of the principles of the Greenback Party. He was for a third of a century a prominent figure in Alexandria, where he had many acquaintances.

TALK WITH AN ALEXANDRIAN

Walter C. Dameron of N. Columbus Street, Tells of an Interesting Experience

There is nothing like a talk with one of our own citizens for giving hope and encouragement to the anxious sufferer from the dread kidney disease. We therefore, give here an interview with an Alexandria man:

Mr. Dameron, says: "My back hurt so badly that often I had to lay off from work. After I got down, I couldn't straighten up again without sharp pains catching me across my kidneys. There was hardly a night passed that my back didn't ache. My kidneys acted too frequently and during the night I had to get up every little while. When morning came, I felt so tired and weak that I could hardly drag myself out of bed. I doctored and tried different medicine but felt no better until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Henry Callan's Drug Store. I took about six boxes in all and since then I have had but little trouble from my kidneys and have felt like a different person."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask of a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Dameron had. Foster- Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

THE IRISH REVOLUTION.

For over a century the history of Ireland has been that of a series of revolutions. The revolt under Robert Emmet broke out and the course of revolution and riots was one of almost unbroken virulence. The history of legislative oppressions, combined with social and economic wrongs that marked the course of Ireland under the Act of Union constitutes a grave reflection upon the ability or the willingness of England to deal with Ireland in the spirit of justice and generosity. Nevertheless, time and again ameliorations were effected in behalf of the Irish people, but under strong pressure that extended to influence created and help obtained from this side of the water. Gladstone in his latter years became an avowed exponent of home rule, and through the power of his personality such a measure came near being enacted into the basic law of the nation. But the power of the lords—that curb upon the democratic measures in England—tended to withhold from the Irish people the boom of home rule until a few years ago.

The leaders of the present revolt have undoubtedly led the masses of the people to believe that the home rule measure would not be put into effect, or, if so, that it would not meet the aspirationc of the Irish people. The Baltimore American suggests that back of the revolt, too, is the money of Germany. Thus the people have been deluded by the agents of the German government and who first subsidized the venal characters that have caused this most distressing misfortune to come upon the island whose record of woes ought not to have been supplemented by this needless, harassing and deadly revolt.

Sir Roger Casement will either be condemned to death or incarcerated in an insane asylum. So will be finally disposed of the man who is said to have been cast out of Germany as a public nuisance. The revolt for which he holds much responsibility cannot, however, be so readily disposed of. Lack of uncensored news prevents a reliable estimate of the range of the revolt, but Ireland under military law indicates its seriousness and the prim purpose of the English government to quell it promptly and at all costs.

Thus Ireland presents a most unhappy spectacle and one that ranges it unpleasantly with treason. It may be, therefore, that the English government, following the close of the war, will confirm its home rule grant to a people that has been led into such criminal revolt by the country's deadly foe at the moment of its extreme peril. But, despite exhortations not to use the revolt for political capital, this is by no means sure.

TRUE CONDITIONS IN GERMANY.

The New York Sun recently printed a letter from Dr. Sidonio Paes, late Portuguese Minister at Berlin who made many interesting statements relative to the present situation in Germany.

Among other things the doctor said:

Up to the present there is no lack of men. What the Germans are doing however, is to modify the battle front and so economize soldiers.

The German public opinion is absolutely hostile to the international policy recently adopted by the Wilhelmstrasse. There is very little dislike felt for the French, but the hatred of England and Russia is accentuated. America has already had grave reasons for a breach with Germany. Germany, however, intends at all costs to avoid a rupture with the North American republic.

Peace is discussed in Germany, and it is certain that it is desired by all classes of the German population. Confidence in final victory is very much diminished, and peace on the basis of the status quo ante would be very woll received by Germany.

The economic situation is very bad, and tends to become worse. There is nothing but black bread available; butter and fats have almost disappeared from the market, potatoes are sold only in small quantities to the people, meat is available only twice a week, and the importation of articles of luxury has long been prohibited. As to the financial situation this does not cause anxiety. The bank rate has fallen because everybody instead of withdrawing money has made fresh deposits. Thus for another two years the financial position does not present great difficulties. There is only one side of Berlin life which has not altered, and that is with respect to cafes, cinematographs theatres and other amusement. In this respect the life is just the same as before the war.

The war should not last longer than 1917, but for this it is necessary that all the belligerents can count on sufficient resources.

THE CONTROL OF THE SEAS.

(Philadelphia Record).

"World peace in the future, and an international state of affairs that will not leave the world a tinder box said one of the speakers at yesterday's meeting of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, in Philadelphia, "demands first of all control of the seas," This control, it was intimated, should be jointly exercised by the United States and Great Britain. As a surety of the world's peace the means suggested is about the least effective that could be chosen. The assumption of control over the common highway, of international commerce by any nation would be a perpetual challenge to all the rest; and it would be a cause of conflict in the future, as it has been in all times past. Cato's exclamation "Carthage must be destroyed!" was called forth by the commercial and colonial expansion of the Punic city of North Africa and her mastery of the Mediterranean. Spain controlled the seas until she was overthrown by England and the Netherlands. The duel for supremacy between the two latter followed. The revolt of the American colonies was essentially an uprising against British commercial tyranny; and the war of 1812 war a struggle for independence of British sea control.

In the present era "control of the seas" has become a phrase without meaning during the continuance of peace. The oceans are free to all pirates, smugglers and slave traders excepted; and on the high sea no Power, however, great, may molest or hinder the legitimate commerce of any nation, however weak. It is in time of war only that "control of the seas" become words of might translatable into belligerent rights. The control at such time falls to the nation whose power to exercise such rights on the high sea is greatest and which is willing to exercise the power it possesses most ruthlessly, Control of the sea in war time involves not only the destruction of belligerent war fleets, but the regulation of the commerce of neutrals among themselves and the cessation of their commerce with all belligerents except the one that is strongest in battleships and the other implements of naval warfare. Is it conceivable, after recent experiences that other maritime nations would regard with equanimity the establishment of one Power control over the world's oceans as a principle ,or even as a policy? Instead of insuring peace, the proclamation of such a principle or policy would be the most certain way of accentuating the mad rivalry in naval armament, which has been one of the provocatives of the present war.

DONATION TO HOSPITAL

(Communicated)

The friends of the Alexandria hospital were very much pleased to see, a few days ago, in the Gazette a notice of a bequest of one thousand dollars to the hospital from Mrs. T. Wyeth of Philadelphia. This is not by any means her first gift to our institution. Her acquaintance date back several years when she had a brother, Mr. Homer, treated there. She spent some time with him and was very much pleased with the attention he received, so much so that she has a number of times remembered the hospital in a substantial way. One gift I wish to call especial attention to was of fifty dollars, given for some particular purpose. After giving the matter due consideration the superintendent decided it might be a first donation towards a new hospital, which the management agreed to and Mrs. Wyeth's donation of fifty dollars is the nucleus around which is gathered the present hospital fund.

The generosity of our friends is very encouraging to the hospital management.

More crimes was committed by persons between the ages of 21 and 30 than by those of any other age. Few men past 70 were convicted.

VIRGINIA NEWS

When he became a man he had servants and land. His parents died and he did not know how to manage his estate, and piece by piece it was swept away from him.

CARRANZA LOSING GRIP

Regime Reported Nearing End as Common People Turn to Villa

Washington, April 29—Reports of the most startling character relative to the internal situation in Mexico have reached several European embassies in Washington within the past 24 hours from the diplomatic representatives in Mexico City.

These reports—and they must be given serious consideration on account of the diplomatic channels through which they come—assert that conditions in Mexico are from a political point of view worse today than at any other time since the overthrow of the late Profirio Diaz They picture the Carranza government as tottering on the brink of upheaval and downfall and declare that Pancho Villa, the hunted, is rapidly becoming a popular hero in the eyes of the masses because of his successful elusion of the American expeditionary force and the failure of the Carranza defacto government to oppose by force the entry of the American forces into Mexico.

The reports [illegible] received by these European embassies assert that there is a rapidly growing and serious resentment against Carranza and his government for what is interpreted as permission given him for the entry of American troops into Mexico. To make it appear that he never entered into any agreement with the United States government for the entry of American troops into Mexico, Carranza, on April 12, sent to the United States government a note in which he challenged the right of American forces to be on Mexican soil, denied that he had given any permission for their entry, asserted that the troops had been sent across in misunderstanding by the American government of the agreement he had proposed, and that the maintenance of the American forces in Mexico was so exciting the people that he doubted the ability of his military forces to hold the populace in check.

The reports mentioned that have reached Washington embassies within the past 24 hours also assert that General Carranza is surrounded in Mexico City by intriguers, who have for some time been plotting his downfall, and declare that these men are planning to make the resentment of the masses against Carranza the basis for a plot for his early overthrow. It is insisted in these reports that the fall of the de facto government is imminent. Food conditions in Mexico City and other parts of the country are declared to be serious, and the financial situation, which at no time has been good under the Carranza government, has become worse.

COMMERCIAL CONGRESS

Would Crush Industrial and Commercial Germany

Paris, April 29—President Poincare yesterday personally welcomed the delegates to the international commercial conference assembled here for the first session of the congress.

The object of the conference is to protect the trade and commerce of the allied nations after the war. It is expected to result in a grand economic alliance, such as the world has never seen before. Parliamentary delegates from all the nations in the entente alliance are in attendance.

President Chaumet, of the French chamber, followed. He said:

"Industrial and commercial Germany cannot be distinguished from military Germany; they are one, always aggressive, always aiming at the domination of the world. Germany's economic hegemony would inevitably bring about restoration of her military power. We must smash them both."

UNREST IN GREECE

Athens, April 29—An impartial observer who has just returned from a tour of all the mainland of Greece reports an amazing spread of sentiment in favor of Eliptherios Venizelos, the former premier, even in conservative Peloponnesus. The recent efforts of the government to suppress the meetings of the Venizelos adherents has awakened deep resentment among the people and there is a growing determination to oust the present government even if it be necessary to resort to arms.

Neutral diplomatic observers who are in a position to judge declare that the present situation cannot last 60 days longer and that unless an allied offensive against Bulgaria relieves the tension by sweeping the Greeks into war with their ancient enemies, a political cataclysm in Greece is inevitable.

The time for a compromise between the liberals and the adherents of the ministry has passed. A most rigid triple censorship of all press telegrams keeps the world generally ignorant of actual conditions in Greece.

SPECIAL SESSION OF CABINET

Unexpected Saturday Meeting Sets Afloat Sensational Rumors.

London, April 29. The Cabinet met unexpectedly this morning, causing the circulation of most sensational rumors in view of the fact that ministerial meetings are held on Saturday.

The meeting was at once connected with King George's conference with Premier Asquith and Lord Kitchener yesterday afternoon and the reports of a new cabinet crisis.

In some quarters it was rumored that the special meeting had to do with the Irish crisis and the almost unanimous demand by the newspapers that Secretary for Ireland Birrell resign. Another report was that it had to do with the conscription fight in Parliament.

MISS GISH AND THE SENTIMENTAL SCENTRY.

200,000 IRISH VOLUNTEERS

Ready to Take Field Against England, Says Col. Wallace.

New York, April 29—An investigation was begun yesterday at the office of the United States district attorney to determine whether a crime had been committed by persons responsible for the attacks on President Wilson and the national administration that have appeared in Irish-American papers published here since the outbreak of the revolution in Dublin. Copies of these editorials will be examined, it was said by one of the assistant district attorneys who has been prominent in the investigation of alien conspiracies.

The attention of the federal authorities was first aroused by an editorial statement that information which led to the sinking of the German ship which attempted to land arms and ammunition on Irish soil came from a member of the Washington administration, "on the orders of President Wilson," This declaration has been authoritatively denied in Washington.

Col. Patrick J. Wallace, commander of a Connemara brigade of the Irish Volunteers, who is now in New York, is authority for the statement that the present situation in Ireland was not fostered in Germany nor in America.

"The plans of the Irish Volunteers" he said, "have been ready ever since the first talk of conscription was heard in Ireland. At the time of the revolt there were 3,000 fully armed and fully trained volunteers in Dublin. Out through the country there were 60,000. With the neutral bodies, there are today 200,000 Irish Volunteers who, when the real test comes, will take the field against the English."

An opposite view is expressed by the Marquis of Aberdeen, for nine years viceroy of Ireland. Lord Aberdeen, who is now in New York, said that, while he did not understimate the seriousness of the situation, he was, nevertheless, convinced that the outbreak would be of short duration.

In discussing dispatches regarding signs of unrest in parts of Ireland outside Dublin he said:

"This statement doubtless refers to certain localities where for a long time there have been small centers of discontent, and in view of all these circumstances it is not the least surprising that it has been thought proper to place the whole country, nominally, for the time being under martial law.

"As to the apparent lack of repressive measures on the part of the government in the past concerning this Sinn Fein movement, it must be remembered that in Britain, as also in this country, the public mind is sensitive about anything that might seem to trench upon freedom of speech and of the press.

FAMILY AVOIDS SERIOUS SICKNESS

By Being Constantly Supplied With Thedford's Black-Draught.

McDuff, Va.—"I suffered for several years," says Mrs. J. B. Whittaker, of this place, "with sick headache, and stomach trouble.

"Ten years ago a friend told me to try Thedford's Black-Draught, which I did and I found it to be the best family medicine for young and old.

I keep Black-Draught on hand all the time now, and when my children feel a little bad, they ask me for a dose, and it does them more good than any medicine they ever tried.

We never have a long spell of sickness in our family, since we commenced using Black-Draught."

Thedford's Black-Draught is purely vegetable, and has been found to regulate weak stomachs, aid digestion, relieve indigestion, colic, wind, nausea, headache, sick stomach, and similar symptoms.
